

Who Review Questions

Read each question and call on children to come to the board and draw a line under the character that best answers the question. Remind them that some of the characters are used more than once.

Team Game Option: Divide the class into two teams. Assign a different board marker color to each team. On their turn, each team uses their team color to underline the character who answers the question. If an answer is wrong, erase the underline. Score points by tallying correct underlines for each team.
